Customer Data Manager is a Windows program that can help you manage customer information in a database, perform searches throughout the database, generate reports, print, and export. The Database Engine can make use of ODBC drivers to communicate with an ODBC database or a custom database engine. Customer Data Manager also can be used as a file manager, allowing you to perform tasks such as open, delete, or rename files and folders. Customer Data Manager has a user-friendly interface that features a ribbon bar which can be customised to suit your requirements. It also allows you to easily find and access the program's functions, thanks to the multi-tabbed format. Adding a new customer in the database Customer Data Manager helps you to manage different customer records in the database by providing detailed information about the name, address, category (e.g. Gold, Silver, Bronze), company name, country, state, city, ZIP code, telephone number, email address, fax, gender, date of birth, marital status, and user-defined remarks/notes. Plus, you can enter the entry date. You can print the information or perform searches by first name, last name, category, company, country, state, city, telephone number, or other criteria. Extra tools to play with Customer Data Manager allows you to set up user-defined categories, company name, state, city, and country so you can easily add the information in the database. What's more, you are allowed to configure header and footer details and generate reports based on a custom time interval. The reports can be printed or exported to RTF or PDF file format. Tests have shown that Customer Data Manager carries out a task quickly and without errors. It remains friendly with system resources, so the overall performance of the computer is not affected. Bottom line All things considered, Customer Data Manager delivers a straightforward and efficient software solution for helping you manage customer information. In case you are looking for advanced features, such as reports based on country, state, city or company, you can have a look at Customer Data Manager Pro. What's New In Customer Info Manager Free?

Credential Manager Free is a Windows program that helps you manage your credentials for many different web services, like your company's company web site, Yahoo mail, Facebook, Hotmail, eBay, Google, LinkedIn, etc. This software can easily create and save your credentials. With this tool, you can create new credentials on the fly, or use one of the pre-created credentials you may have downloaded from the author's web site. All credentials are displayed in a tree view, so you can quickly see the details and check if they are up to date or expired. Moreover, you can save credentials on your system and generate reports for your users based on custom-defined time intervals. Furthermore, Credential Manager Free lets you track who uses your credentials and who changes them. User-friendly environment This tool offers a multi-tabbed layout, which allows you to see all the information about one or more credentials at the same time. To save time, the ribbon-like interface makes it easy to perform actions and discover the program's features. The tool is completely free, so you can download it and try it out. If you like what you see, you can buy the full version or extend its license. Credentials are saved in a table The tool allows you to create new credentials or edit the ones you already have on your system. All information about your credentials, like their name, creation date, email address, expiration date, etc., is saved in a table. Besides, you can see the URL or type (web, mail, search, etc.) of a credential, the IP address it belongs to, the user name, as well as the mail account. Then, to create a new credential, you just have to specify its name, type, URL, and expiration date. Reverse DNS lookup Credential Manager Free allows you to create a dynamic DNS entry for your own server. When you save this information, you can make it easy to browse your web site when its URL has a different format. You can easily generate a list of dynamic DNS entries for your users, which can help you to keep track of their credentials. Plus, you can generate a report based on a time interval, so you can keep an eye on your users' activity. What's more, you can share your dynamic DNS entries on other systems. Extra tools to play with With this tool, you can view all the information about your credentials. You can easily create new credentials, or edit or delete them. Furthermore, you can setup user-defined categories. Credential Manager Free allows you to filter out credentials based on the email account, type, URL, domain, and IP address. A useful feature of this tool is the capability to create dynamic
