Key Features: ✓-Drag and Drop for easy customization ✓-Live tracking of scoring updates ✓-Detailed live stats for each player ✓-Team scoring automatically updated ✓-Get notified by email when team has reached a score goal Scoreboard for pc was one of the best scoring systems available in gaming, allowing players to create customized, realistic scores for events like sports or tournaments. It can track in real time, keep track of all scoring updates and can also show team statistics and even provide score reports. Scoreboard for pc brings back all this with a few unique new features including custom scoring and timer functions, as well as a set of different scoreboards that can be easily added and displayed. These can display your favorite sports, special events, tournaments, or anything else you might be interested in. A variety of scoring types The app has a wide variety of preset scoreboards, which can be added on-the-fly and displayed on your desktop. You can have a classic matchboard, where the score for each team is shown as an arrow, or a simple scoreboard where the scoring updates are shown on a separate screen with a timer. With the MyCustomScoreboard option, you can fully customize your own board using any background image or even customize fonts and text styles. Live tracking of scoring updates If you find the default updates too slow, you can use the Live Updates option to track scoring updates automatically, once you set the event's start and end time. Live updates can also display player statistics, such as what happened last time a player was on the field, or how often a player advances their team. Additionally, statistics can be provided for the current match, such as top scoring teams, as well as for each player, such as their average points per game. Score reports Once the match has been completed, you can see a summary of the current event, including team statistics, scoring updates, as well as player statistics, including their final score and team's total points. Aside from that, it can also generate a report, which can be stored and used to track statistics for any future events. Conclusion Scoreboard for pc was a game-changer when it first appeared 1d6a3396d6
