[The surgical treatment of pleural mesothelioma]. During the period between 1986 and 1991, 21 patients suffering from diffuse mesothelioma with involvement of the pleura underwent surgical intervention. Nine patients had pleural plaques whereas 12 patients had pleural tumor. The authors believe that pleural plaques are not a manifestation of presbytery, but rather a result of previous tuberculosis, although studies proving this are lacking. The use of video-assisted thoracoscopy (VAT) is an indispensable procedure for the diagnosis of malignant pleural mesothelioma (MPM) as well as the surgical treatment. Early diagnosis of MPM is important for the successful surgical treatment. The surgical approach is preferably the radical standard procedure, as shown in this study. According to the authors' retrospective studies, an 80% survival rate can be achieved in patients operated upon. In patients suffering from plaques, a survival rate of up to 90% can be achieved. The resectability is affected by the site and size of the plaques. As yet it is unknown which adjuvant treatment contributes to prolongation of the survival rate of the patients. The individual symptoms of the disease and its response to treatment play a decisive role in the patients' prognosis. We've covered the story of the Doncaster Riots extensively already on Snug, so we'll focus on the places where this is happening. In Doncaster, crowds gathered at St Leonard's church, then wandered down to the police station to hurl bottles, bricks and other items at the police who were trying to disperse the crowds. Some of the local shops and businesses in Yeadon were also attacked, with a garage set on fire, the back of the pub was smashed in, an electrical shop that was being cleaned was also attacked and some windows smashed. There was also trouble at the Althorp Way area of Yeadon and, as one man was seen filming the events, this has since been deleted. So, what's all this about? As reported by this blog last week, rumours are circulating that a protest against new ID rules is in the works. Doncaster has a Youth Training centre with younger adults and it's been rumoured that groups of young people are going to travel to the centre and throw bricks through the windows. Apparently, there are two groups travelling to Doncaster and one of them has been led by
