I would like to create a custom filter where I use a search field to search against a list of string which I would like to use as sort field (ASC/DESC) I can't find how to build a proper inner object, so the only thing I could implement is this (see code below): { "orderBy": ["name", "asc"], "data": { "name": [] }, "filters": [{ "field": "name", "operator": "startswith", "value": "D" }], "pagination": { "pageSize": 20 } } However, I don't want to have "name" as a single field, but as an array which contains only a single element "D". How can I do this? A: In the Filer object you are passing values that are just strings. You need to provide an array of those strings in order for the filter to match that data. { "orderBy": ["name", "asc"], "data": {
