The poll found that 48% of respondents said Trump's presidency is a "serious threat to our democracy," but even more -- 57% -- said the country "is on the wrong track." When asked whether Americans should be "concerned about the president's mistruths," 34% of those under 40 believe they are; 56% of those over 40 said the same. CNN polling has shown that a majority of Americans are saying they are concerned about the President's actions, but the public still generally has a favorable view of his presidency, particularly compared to other recent presidents. More than six in 10 Americans now say they like the job Trump is doing, compared to 45% at this time during the Barack Obama administration. In order to assess the most recent news and the direction of the country, the poll was conducted from March 13 to 17. It includes interviews with 1,007 adults, and has a margin of error of plus or minus 3.1 percentage points.
