The Free DLC: Oktoberfest features:Content Battle for Theresa's Meadow Battle for Theresa's Meadow stands as one of Spellforce 3's most beautiful maps, with Bavarian motifs and farm animals, including almighty oxen, plows and bees. But the map has a secret, quite literally. Beyond the rows of lemon-yellow blossoms growing in carefully sculpted fields, you'll find paths leading to a rocky outcrop at the edge of a cliff. Strangely enough, these are paths worn by biergänger, or beer-garden visitors. A little further from the rocky outcrop you'll find an inn that marks the entrance to the Oktoberfest grounds. The path beyond leads to more beer gardens and taverns, where a number of people are singing and dancing to some unknown blasmusik. There are no official Oktoberfest grounds to be found on the map.Your mission: Explore the map, look for clues, win skirmishes and identify possible allies. Map Size: 768x384New Multiplayer Hero: Alois Bierdimpfe, a Bavarian brewmaster with two new skill trees guaranteed to raise your spirits and probably help you survive the Oktoberfest-tide.New Music: To be used in regular skirmish and campaign matches and during the Oktoberfest event. Oktoberfest-Themed Multiplayer Game Modes: You can play any of our multiplayer modes in the Oktoberfest event. Oktoberfest Edition Skills: You can use all of our Oktoberfest Edition skills during the event. See the Oktoberfest Edition Skill Trees on our website. New Map Locations: You can find locations that were once used for Oktoberfest battles, including the Oktoberfest Inn and Leinzer Eck, which is a place where muskets and pistols are likely to be used. Dignity and Beauty: Perhaps you'd like to honor our fallen comrades with a toast of Wiesnbier? Manage your faction reputation: You can now keep track of your faction reputation in the faction campaign. Revisit your friendships: You can invite and refuse friends using the faction campaign. New faction campaign: You can play through the Oktoberfest campaign in four stages, with the event map in the final stage. New Skirmish map: Battle for Theresa's Meadow set

What's new in Fantasy And Girls Soundtrack:

16 Lets celebrate the goats with a spectacular, all-hour, pixelated voodoo dubstep Halloween Monster Mash from the dungeon dungeon of DemonicCrawl. Over an hour of the most ridiculous, horror-inspired, Dracula-esque beats you'll ever lay your ears on. Coming soon: Hundreds of other sounds, all 60s television monsters, werewolves and '40s horror movies. For years now, with the release of DemonicCrawl and friends, I've been doing this. This thread was created so all of you throughout the world can have some type of place to find all the denizens of DemonicCrawl. This is one of my earliest works. In fact, the sound design and the first use of SuperCollider, which was written into this script, came from the original intentions of the script. The volume on this one and another of my older musical pieces was increased after a Kickstarter-powered remix campaign by a heavy metal band called Sepasyon. The remixes included a biblical Bible-reading timesound (which was edited very heavily) with some additional instrumentation. The script for our current soundtrack has been incredibly active for quite a while. Since the release of Legendary Halloween Songs Vol. 1 last fall, I've been working on this one, which is a different, more expanded notion of a Halloween Seasonal Soundtrack. Along with the addition of many extra sounds and the titular 'DemonCrawl Halloween Monster Mash' from the previous version of this thread, I'd like to announce the first five months of the soundtrack as full versions. Below is the opening and closing tracks for this project, as well as some special stuff. Soundtrack #24 While we couldn't include the opening track, presented here are some sound effects of the Halloween-themed game called Cat's Cradle: The Soundtrack #25 has been released and can be found on the sale page of DemonicCrawl: Everything from the soundtrack's beginning to the end has been remastered and upgraded for the release. New Pet Life Sounds In addition to the DemonCrawl annual soundtrack releases, there's also a new soundtrack, #26, that is released and available on the sale page during the month of October. It is a mashup of some of the best effects from Children of Invention and some new works from way back when I tried putting sounds together to
