END OF TRANSMISSIONQ: How to change the displayed font in an abstract class? I'm currently working on a small game and I want to make all of my abstract classes work with the same Font. I have a class called Skin which has an abstract function called draw(), which is used by most of my abstract classes. I want to change the font in that function, but I don't really want to go around modifying functions in classes (functions are the exact opposite of data)! I have tried placing the Font as a static variable in Skin, but that doesn't change the font for any other class. class Skin { public static Font font; protected void draw() { //Some stuff if (some_condition) { font.setFont(new Font("IBM Plex Serif", Font.PLAIN, 20)); } else { font.setFont(new Font("IBM Plex Serif", Font.BOLD, 20)); } } } class Player_character extends Skin { //Draws stuff
